LSCA FUNDING PROBLEMS CONTINUE

The South Carolina State Library received a grant award from the U.S. Department of Education dated February 4, 1982 for LSCA. Under this award, the State Library received 51% of the President's budget proposal rather than 51% of the Congressional Continuing Resolution. This made available $313,936 for Title I and $73,691 for Title III. While these funds were being allocated, the Office of Libraries and Learning Technologies informed us on February 11 that additional funds would be released up to 51% of the Continuing Resolution ($443,587 for Title I and $85,329 for Title III).

On the basis of the OLLT information, applications for library development projects were approved for 6¢ per capita. On February 22-23, telephone calls from OLLT informed us, in spite of previous instruction, that OMB is refusing to release the additional funds and we must revert to the 51% of the Presidential budget level. On February 26, 1982 public librarians were instructed to obligate no more than 3¢ per capita for library development.

Staff members in the offices of Senator Hollings, Representative Derrick, Representative Hartnett, and Representative Spence have interceded on our behalf. They have been told that, despite Government Accounting Office's ruling, the Administration is illegally impounding FY 1982 LSCA funds, OMB refuses to release them until Congress acts on the President's rescission message. The New York State Library is considering a suit over this issue. Until it is completely resolved, the State Library will implement the FY 82 Annual Program in stages. Mandated programs such as Institutional Library Services, Services to the Blind and Physically Handicapped, and Services to Limited English-Speaking are being funded at present.

The FY 83 budget proposals are a disaster for library programs. The Library Services and Construction Act, the National Commission on Libraries and Information Service, and Higher Education Act library programs are all proposed for termination as programs which "have achieved their objectives or which are more appropriately the responsibilities of states, local governments, or private institutions." In addition, rescissions in FY 1982 funding to the lower of either the continuing resolution level or the President's September budget request are proposed.

The President is also proposing to abolish the Education Department and establish a non-Cabinet level Foundation for Education Assistance headed by a director appointed by the President. The FY 1982 budget documents assume the Foundation will be in place by October 1, 1982, and all references to the Education Department have been eliminated.

	Sept. FY '82 Reagan Budget	FY 1982 Cont. Res. Thru 3/31	Reagan Budget FY '82 after Rescission	FY 1983 Request

It still remains very important for librarians, trustees, and friends to contact the South Carolina Congressional Delegation about the release of FY 82 LSCA funds, the continuation of the LSCA program, and the proposed dissolution of the Department of Education.

LIBRARY LEGISLATIVE DAY A SUCCESS

Library Legislative Day (February 10) sponsored by the Association of Public Library Administrators turned out to be a successful effort toward informing state legislators about library concerns. Forty-three counties in the state were represented by more than 200 librarians, library trustees, Friends, and library users. Fifty-eight members of the General Assembly attended the morning coffee held in the Dennis Building, and many more legislators were contacted during the day.

David Warren, Federal Relations Coordinator for the South Carolina Library Association, has reported that plans are currently underway to have groups of librarians meet with their Congressional representatives while they are in S.C. during the Easter recess the second week in April.

CONSUMER HEALTH INFORMATION TOPIC OF WORKSHOP

The USC College of Librarianship will sponsor three one-day consumer health information workshops on April 28, 29, and 30 at the Greenville County Library, Florence County Library, and the Administration Building, South Carolina Department of Mental Health, respectively.

The morning session of the workshop will be devoted to background information on consumer health information services and a panel discussion. Representatives from the medical profession and health related organizations will discuss resources available to the local community. Pamphlets and other health related resources will be available to participants.

The second part of the workshop will feature Ellen Gartenfeld who is the coordinator of the Consumer Health Information Network (CHIN) in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Ms. Gartenfeld will define and describe how consumer health information services could be offered and how library policy might be changed to accommodate service. Sources of available materials as well as information services will be provided. Time will be allowed at the conclusion of the afternoon session for discussion between librarians about issues involved in providing health information.

Registration forms are available from Helen Callison, Continuing Education Coordinator, College of Librarianship, University of South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina 29208 or call 777-2544 or 777-3858.

ONLINE USERS GROUP PLAN WORKSHOP

The Online Users Group of the South Carolina Library Association will sponsor a workshop -- "Online Reference Services: Does Your Program Need a Facelift?" on April 23 at Seawell's Restaurant on the State Fairgrounds in Columbia from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Registration fees are $15 for SCLA members and $17.50 for non-members, to include lunch. For further information, contact Paula Swope, Thomas Cooper Library, University of South Carolina, 777-4866.

DEWEY CLASSIFICATION WORKSHOP SCHEDULED

The USC College of Librarianship, in cooperation with the Dewey Decimal Classification Division of the Library of Congress, will sponsor a workshop on the Dewey Decimal classification system on April 8 at the Belk Auditorium, Business Administration Building of the USC-Columbia campus, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. John P. Comaromi, Editor of the Dewey Decimal Classification, 19th edition, will be the principal speaker, assisted by Elspeth Pope, a member of the College's faculty. The workshop, entitled "Dewey 19: What It Is, What Has Changed, How to Make it Work for You" will examine major changes under the 19th edition of the Dewey Decimal Classification and their impact. Participants will be sent 30 examples to work with prior to the workshop for discussion during the program. Workshop fees are $10, to include a light lunch. Further information will be mailed to public, academic and secondary school librarians.

PLANS UNDERWAY FOR 56th SCLA CONFERENCE

The 1982 South Carolina Library Association Conference, scheduled for October 7-9 in Columbia, will offer an assorted program on the theme, "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." The convention will focus on our heritage of civil and political liberties and rights as Americans. The basic documents that guarantee these freedoms will be emphasized, and threats to our liberties will be addressed by a variety of programs. The official colors for the fall meeting are red, white, and blue with "Stars and Stripes Forever" as the theme song.

SCLA NEWS

The following persons have been appointed to serve on the South Carolina Library Association's Ad Hoc Interlibrary Loan Code Committee: Julie Johnson (Chairman), School of Medicine, University of South Carolina; John Landrum, South Carolina State Library; Sarah Clark Linder, Richland County Public Library; Don Miles, Milliken Research Corporation; Drucilla Reeves, Brookland-Cayce High School; Davy-Jo Ridge, Thomas Cooper Library, University of South Carolina; Valeria Staley, South Carolina State College; and Ruth Swank, Midlands Technical College. This committee has scheduled an open meeting to be held March 22 in the conference room at the USC School of Medicine Library.

Members of the 1982 SCLA convention committee are: Programs - Paul Dove, Francis Marion College; Local Arrangements - Lea Walsh, South Carolina State Library; Exhibits - Julie Johnson, USC School of Medicine Library; Hospitality - Ginger Shuler, Richland County Public Library; Publicity - Deborah Hotchkiss, South Carolina State Library; and Registration - Charlotte Marshall, Thomas Cooper Library, University of South Carolina.

Public Library Notes

Anderson County: The library has received a $20,000 grant from the local Governments Assistance Division of the State Budget and Control Board. The grant will be used to purchase books...Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sullivan donated $500 to the library for book purchases. Mr. Sullivan is the Chairman of the library's board of trustees.

Charleston County: The library is offering a program series, "Adventure in Leisure." Program topics have included income tax preparation, wine and cheese entertaining, hairstyling and beauty tips, choosing a pet, floral arrangements, and children's books...A lecture series on the Great Ages of Western Civilization will be held weekly from March 3-April 1...Other events slated for March include a program on double taxation co-sponsored with the League of Women Voters and a program on historic preservation held in conjunction with the Medical University.

Chesterfield County: As a follow-up to the story concerning federal funding cutbacks and their effects on outreach library programming (in February, 1982 issue), the library reports that the library board regretfully made the decision to curtail outside library programs in order to give first priority to maintaining full service to citizens who directly use the library or bookmobile. During the past five years, the library's circulation has increased 115% while total staff hours have only increased 8% over the same time period.

Florence County: Upon recommendation of the local police department, the library has installed a Volt-Sensitive Vehicle Alarm System in the bookmobile. The police department also made the recommendation to mount an additional manual switch under the desk located behind the driver's seat. The system is designed to protect the bookmobile both when it is in motion and when it is left unattended...A new telephone system was installed in the library in February to improve inter-library communication. The library estimates that the system will pay for itself in five years...The library hosted a ten-hour literacy workshop to train volunteer tutors. The workshop was sponsored by the local Literacy Council. Bob Davidson, Community Services/Extension Librarian, has been appointed to serve on the Literacy Council's board...On Sunday afternoons during February, the library has offered travel series programs featuring local residents as guest speakers.

Georgetown County: The Murrells Inlet Free Library recently opened in space provided by the Georgetown County Recreation Department. The library represents a community-based project with library materials and furnishings being provided by local residents.

Greenville County: Arthur Magill donated a cassette transcriber and two cassette recorders to be used in the library's oral history project "Living Heritage".

Greenwood County: Trained tax consultants are providing free assistance to senior citizens in preparing state and federal income tax returns at the library on Mondays and Thursdays by appointment. This is the second year accountants have volunteered their services to the library.

Horry County: Staff members of the local Assessor's Office are meeting with taxpayers on a regular monthly schedule at branch libraries in Loris and Aynor.

Marion County: The library will sponsor a program on women's history featuring attorney Mary Buchan on March 10. The program is being held in conjunction with other Pee Dee area programs held in observance of Women's History Week, March 7-13...Harriet Kavar, Library Director, was awarded a certificate as the Mental Health Volunteer of the Year for the Pee Dee area.

Marlboro County: The library has received a bequest of $2,000 from the late Nell Carroll Furman Miller. The gift was made as a memorial to Mrs. Miller's mother, Alexa McColl Carroll, a charter member of the 20th Century Club, which was the forerunner of the present library.

Oconee County: Effective February 1, the Salem Branch Library doubled its hours to 18 after the County Council approved additional funds to cover its operation. The Council's action was in response to a 51% increase in circulation recorded over the past eight months...During February, the library was the site of the county's annual quilting show sponsored in cooperation with the Oconee County Extension Service.

Spartanburg County: Several business firms located in Chesnee recently pledged 53% of the monthly rent for the Chesnee Branch Library for 1982.

Union County: An architectural plan to expand the Union Carnegie Library was presented during a library board meeting held on January 18. The plan represented the result of a six-month study by the Greenville architectural firm of Craig, Gaulden, and Davis. The proposed expansion, estimated to cost $459,545 at current price levels, would occupy over 6,000 square feet. A committee has been appointed to investigate funding for the building program.

Williamsburg County: The library reports that renovations to the library's unused basement are underway in order to create a new children's room, staff office, and restroom facilities. On February 22, the Williamsburg County legislative delegation, composed of Senator Frank McGill, Representative B.J. Gordon, and Representative John Snow, presented the library with a $10,000 state grant to assist the renovation project. The library is also planning to renovate the upstairs portion in the future. Library board members and the local Friends group are currently involved in fund raising.

York County: Approximately 1,500 people attended the opening ceremony for the new headquarters building in Rock Hill on January 24. Local ETV coverage of the event led to a 30 minute program the following week. Food was provided by the Friends group while the Chamber Ensemble of Winthrop College contributed the music...The library reports that response to the new library building has been tremendous, reflected in increases in circulation and registration. Organized tours are being given to local clubs and groups on a regular basis... The library will mark the observance of Women's History Week (March 7-13) with a "Women In Our History" film series and poetry readings by women poets as well as a special exhibition...With the move into their new headquarters building in January, the library has expanded its hours of operation. It is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

Focusing on Serving Children

From the Desk of the Field Service Librarian for Children's Services:

GET AWAY THIS SUMMER WITH BOOKS

In 1982, the State Library will again co-sponsor with county and regional libraries a statewide summer reading program. This year's theme THE GREAT GLOBAL GETAWAY was chosen by a committee from the southern part of the state. Libraries have ordered travel logs (reading record), posters, bookmarks, certificates, and balloons to help them spur children to travel to exotic places and adventure through books. Booklists, program ideas, puzzles, and other activities will be forthcoming in a program manual. As in 1981, the State Library through its LSCA Service to Children project will be paying for art and publicity costs with participating libraries paying for printing costs for materials ordered. By working cooperatively on this program, libraries in South Carolina are able to offer a quality program for children at a cost-effective price.

ACTIVITIES FOR CHILDREN AROUND THE STATE

At Charleston County Library, Afro-American History Month meant a special program with storytelling, puppet show, poetry reading, spirituals, and a film. The film, Follow the North Star, concerned the underground railroad and was shown at branches. In March the library will have a "Kites Aloft" program.

At Florence County Library, a special display of posters, books and filmstrips in honor of Afro-American History Month has been well received.

York County Library is sponsoring a four-week film series for children ages 4 and up in the main library and three branches. A bedtime story hour series is being held at the Clover Public Library.

Response has been good to a six-week series of story hours at the Oconee County Library in Walhalla and its Westminster and Seneca branches. 106 children participated in the first two weeks of the series. The series follows a fall of planning and rethinking children's programming, and staff are encouraged by the interest shown.

Films are now being shown at a monthly Saturday matinee at the Williamsburg County Library. The library is publicizing the event by sending individual postcards to last summer's reading participants and new cardholders. Attendance is averaging 40 children each month.

At Dorchester County's Summerville Library, "At the Movies with Bad Dog," a film series available from the South Carolina Arts Commission was held during February. Programs included activities relating to the films, including face painting, paper bag masks, drawings, and even popcorn.

Richland County Public Library made use of their Snoopy mascot to open their winter series of story times for 3 to 5 year olds in the main library and 5 branches. Snoopy, who is played by one of the staff in a human-sized costume, can't talk but he is always a hit. By command performance, he is revisiting the branches.

NEWBERRY AND CALDECOTT AWARDS

The 1982 Newberry Award was awarded to Nancy Willard for A Visit to William Blake's Inn: Poems for Innocent and Experienced Travelers (Harcourt, 1981). It is the first poetry book to receive the award and was also named a Caldecott Honor book for its illustrations. Honor Books were Ramona Quimby Age 8 by Beverly Cleary (Morrow) and Upon the Head of the Goat: A Childhood in Hungary, 1939-1944 by Aranka Siegal (Farrar).

The 1982 Caldecott Medal went to Chris Van Allsburg for Jumanji (Houghton-Mifflin). Honor books are Where the Buffaloes Begin, text by Olaf Baker, illustrations by Stephen Gammell (Warne); On Market Street by Arnold Lobel, illustrations by Anita Lobel (Greenwillow); Outside Over There by Maurice Sendak (Harper); and A Visit to William Blake's Inn, with illustrations by Alice and Martin Provenson.

HOW TO CONDUCT EFFECTIVE PICTURE BOOK PROGRAMS

How to Conduct Effective Book Programs is a booklet that goes with the film The Pleasure is Mutual in the State Library's film collection. The booklet is considered the best all-around guide to preschool story hours. It is available from the Westchester Library System, 8 Westchester Plaza, Cross Westchester Executive Park, Elmsford, New York 10523 for $3.00 plus $.63 first class postage prepaid. The booklet includes instructions for organizing a story hour series, publicity, program planning and covers a number of important details.

MORE CENSUS DATA

The State Library has just received from the Division of Research and Statistical Services a microfiche set of data from the 1980 Census Summary Tape File 1A (STF1A). Containing data from 100% population and housing items in the 1980 Census questionnaire, the set contains data arranged geographically in descending order for the state; county; county census division (CCD); place or place segment within CCD or remainder of CCD; census tract or block numbering area (BNA), or tract/BNA or untraced/non-BNA segment, within place, place segment, or remainder of CCD; and block group (BG) or BG segment or enumeration district. Data are also given for places, arranged alphabetically rather than by county, and for Congressional districts.

For any library needing microfiche duplicates of all or part of STF 1A microfiche, the cost is as follows:

Entire set (147 cards)	$15.00
State (2 frames on one card)	$.10
Individual county and subcounty data (ranges from 2 cards for Abbeville County to 9 cards for Richland County)	$.10 per card
Place, arranged alphabetically, and Congressional district (9 cards)	$.90

An invoice will be sent by the State Library when the order is filled. Please send orders to: Mary Toll, Documents Librarian, South Carolina State Library, P. O. Box 11469, Columbia, South Carolina 29211.

County libraries and/or State Data Center affiliate libraries will receive microfiche duplicates for the county in which they are located free of charge.

The U.S. Bureau of the Census has also just published the 1980 Census of Population. Number of Inhabitants. South Carolina. (PC 80-1-A42). This final report can be ordered from the Government Printing Office for $3.25, stock number 003-024-02731-3.
